CONTEXT

Covid-19 and the global responses by each country have had the most dramatic, and in many cases devastating impact on businesses across the whole world.

Complete sectors have come to a shuddering halt, and individual businesses are having their resilience and financial strength tested like never before. Big or small, global or internal the cry of the moment is 'we must go back to work'... but are you ready for the restart?

CONSIDERATIONS FOR ALL BUSINESSES

Do we have the clear direction, specific priorities and processes we need to restart quickly and effectively?

Do our people have the core skills, critical, knowledge and updated capabilities to engage and perform immediately?

Do we have a mindset and culture that can adapt to restart conditions, align behind the new priorities and adopt a 'restart mindset' that embraces the pressure?
